SENIORS

"Bend your head down a little, Jack."

As class president, Jim led the graduates in changing their tassels from left to right.

The End of High School Life . . . but Also a Beginning

At the left, Chuck received his diplomas from his mother. Graduation initiated more serious thoughts about the future.

The camera caught Mr. Aho by surprise as he directed seniors to their places.

Fun and Farewell

After they had stocked up on carmel corn, Terri and Bill started off on their tandem.

Joyce and Imad needed some relaxation after a hard day of bicycling.

Anchors aweigh!

Jim found a historic spot on the Island.

Dave, Steve, and Bill spent a "ripping" senior year collecting fruit loops.

In the Varsity-Faculty game this group of cheerleaders spurred the Varsity on to a one-point victory.

The Class of 1966 has finally made it to the end of high school life. At times, the four years seemed like they would never end, but now that they are over, they seem to have gone too fast.

Our Freshman and Sophomore years passed with only a few noteworthy incidents, because these two years were mostly devoted to becoming acquainted with the high school routine. However, when the Junior Year started, our social activities became more numerous and more important to us as a class.

First came the Junior Play, "Pillow Talk", which was a smash hit. The Junior-Senior Banquet and the Prom were equal successes. Who will ever forget John's now immortal line, "I'll save you!" If anyone were worried about his future, those skits predicting the future probably worried him even more. The Prom, with the theme, "Shangri La", was a memorable evening, and although it took a lot of work, everyone must agree that it was worth it.

However, there was more to the Junior Year than just the social side. It was time for everyone to start having some serious thoughts about the future. Tentative decisions regarding college, business school, and the future had to be made so that we could work towards a goal. Preliminary aptitude tests made these decisions a little easier, but they still required much serious thinking. By the end of the year, we realized that we would be stepping into the Seniors' shoes, and that we must be prepared to accept the responsibilities and social role of a Senior.

In order to finance the activities of our final year, we had a successful magazine subscription campaign. Within the class, we competed for recognition as best salesmen, receiving certificates, "furry fiends", and prizes for our efforts.

Some of these salesmen became peanut vendors for our Senior Play, which was an old-fashioned "meller-drams", "Pure as the Driven Snow, or a Working Girl's Secret". It was literally a howling success, but probably no one who worked on the play likes peanuts any more!

By the time the play was over, we were more than ready to sit back and let the Juniors do the work for the Banquet and the Prom. Although the awards at the Banquet were just a little bit unexpected, they were accepted with great dignity (?) and poise (?). The Juniors then really broke all records with an elegant Prom and memorable theme, "Moon River".

Before it seemed possible, the end of our Senior Year was upon us, and we made the annual trip to Mackinac Island. Although most of us came back with sunburns and aching muscles, it was a great trip and a lot of fun. It was also the Seniors' "Fun and Farewell", the last social activity of the year. All that remained was Graduation Week.

We had looked forward to this time for many years, but when it came, it was a mixture of fright, sadness, and happiness. The thought that we were really graduating made its first impact on everyone at Baccalaureate. As the Seniors marched down the aisles of the auditorium in caps and gowns, we suddenly realized that classes, final exams, and high school life would soon be over. This thought became a reality Thursday night, June ninth, Commencement for the Class of 1966. As we walked across the stage with shaking knees and clammy hands, we realized that one part of our life had ended and another was beginning, and as we clutched that all important diploma, we were ready to accept the challenge.

The Senior Class has now divided, each going his own separate way, but the memories of our years at P.H.S. will form a bond in which our class will always be together through the years.

As our last act, we, the Senior Class of 1966, leave to you, the remaining classes, the hope that you will have as many fond memories of the new P.H.S. as we have of the old P.H.S.

Remember

Christina Rossetti

Remember me when I am gone away,
Gone far away into the silent land;
When you can no more hold me by the hand,
Nor I half turn to go, yet turning stay.
Remember me when no more, day by day,
You tell me of our future that you planned;
Only remember me; you understand
It will be late to counsel then or pray.
Yet if you should forget me for a while
And afterward remember, do not grieve;
For if the darkness and corruption leave
A vestige of the thoughts that once I had,
Better by far you should forget and smile
Than that you should remember and be sad.

The Junior Play, the Junior-Senior Banquet, the J-Hop, term papers, preliminary college aptitude tests--these are only a few of the activities and headaches that make up that hectic fun-filled time known as the "Junior Year." The Juniors are probably the most harried, confused, worried, perplexed people in high school, but they must enjoy it. How else could they survive this busy year?

But now they look ahead to their Senior year, for they have finally reached this last big goal of high school. The Juniors meet it with excitement and anticipation, for they are determined to leave a favorable impression of the Senior Class of 1967.

Sophomores in the Swing

With one year of high school behind them, the sophomores started their year with more confidence and many plans. As sophomores, they took on more responsibilities and felt they were really in the swing of high school life. They were busy joining this club and that, but they were also busy with their schoolwork, for they began to realize that high school years go swiftly and that it was time to start preparing for the future.

The Freshman have completed their year of high school initiation. They can finally shake off the label of "greenhorn" and take on the more respected role of the Sophomore.

The freshman year is probably one of the most difficult years to overcome. Too big to be part of junior high and not quite big enough to be a real part of the high school scene, the freshman must fight for his place. It's tough, but it's sure worth it!

Home Ec. for the girls and shop for the boys were new experiences that varied the eighth grade schedule, by mixing practical courses with scholastic subjects. The eighth graders also had a big decision to make; whether their high school courses would be college prep., business, or general. Now they are ready to take the step from junior high to senior high life.

At the beginning of the year, if you saw some poor lost soul wandering through the halls, you could be fairly sure that he was a seventh grader, and it's no wonder! New building, new faces, new surroundings--all combined, make a confusing and rather scary year. But, the seventh graders apparently all survived, so they can look confidently ahead to their eighth year.

Imagination and Creation

Designs are printed on the Christmas cards for the Christmas sale.

Art Club promotes an interest in art to students in junior and senior high schools, and to the public. The club is open to anyone who has taken art or who is taking art. Many activities keep the club busy, including a sale of homemade Christmas decorations, an Art Festival to display their art work, and a trip to observe works of art in various museums. A picnic is held at the end of the year at which time the officers for the following year are chosen.

The finished product is hung to dry.

Barb's diagram depicts the earth's interior.

Imad explains the operation of his computer machine.

Scientific Society

Electronics, biology, physics, and chemistry are the main interests of the members of the Scientific Society. Although it was a new club this year, many projects and activities kept it busy. Among the projects were a radio project, and a physics and trigonometry machine. The Society held a contest for projects and speeches, and the prizes were subscriptions to SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN. Through their activities, the members and sponsors showed work, cooperation, and respect for science.

The purpose of the French Club is to create and extend, beyond the classroom, the students' interest in France, its people, customs, and language. This year, it opened its membership to St. Francis' French students.

The club's two main projects this year were putting on "French Night" and purchasing a special typewriter for the French Department. Other activities included J.V. football concessions, French Christmas caroling, a bake sale preceded by the members meeting together to bake, and making pep posters.

French night ended with a big kick.

Le Quartier Francais

The students hammed it up at French Night.

"Aw, come on now, I'm worth more than that."

SODALITAS LATINA fulfills two purposes; it acquaints the beginning Latin student with the culture and daily life of Rome, from which our civilization got its roots, and it offers the student some relaxation and fun in the use of his knowledge of Latin through such games as "Tall Tales in Latin," Latin Scrabble, "Latin Baseball," and "Twenty Questions."

At the annual slave auction in the spring, the patricians (the advanced Latin students) had the privilege of buying one or more slaves (the first-year Latin students). These slaves devoted themselves to the needs of their masters for one school day, which was climaxed by the Roman banquet in the evening.

Agricultural Methods Put into Action

The Future Farmers of America have always been strictly classified as "farmers". The organization's name, however, is in the process of being changed, since the club is involved in activities other than those pertaining to farming. Such activities include learning to weld properly, making safety emblems for the public, and selling various produce in the summer. A week's trip to Canada highlighted the activities this year.

A get-to-gether for the F.H.A.'ers and their parents.

The Petoskey Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America is designed for girls who have taken one year of home economics beyond junior high, or who are presently taking home economics. Its purpose is to further home economics beyond the classroom.

The club colors are red and white, and its motto is "Toward New Horizons." The chapter is affiliated with the State and the National Future Homemakers of America.

The girls enjoy such activities as working at concessions, serving at banquets, sponsoring candy sales, and planning a potluck for their families. In the spring, a formal banquet is held to conclude the year.

Future Nurses Promote Good Health

Making a bed properly is only one of the things Candy Stripers learn to do.

F.N.A. strives to interest students in personal and community health. It also encourages them to decide wisely about nursing or other medical careers. Through discussions with guest speakers, the members learn what each career offers, and what each requires. Activities of the Future Nurses include: tours of the local hospitals; classes for "Candy Striper" training; and volunteer work at Lockwood-McDonald and Little Traverse Hospitals. At the end of the year, the club takes a bus trip to visit a school of nursing.

Terri tells an Easter story to the kindergarten.

The torch of future educators.

The F.T.A. club enables its members to participate in pre-vocational activities, to learn the good qualities of a teacher, to look at the wide variety of teaching fields, and to study the history of education. The junior and senior members may cadet teach in the elementary grades. This cadet program gives the members a chance to select and observe the age group which interests them. F.T.A. is a member of the Michigan Future Teachers Association, a part of the Michigan Education Association, and of the National Education Association.

Paper, pencil, and patience.

Through club activities such as selling Northmen booster buttons, cookie sales, and sponsoring the coat-check at basketball games, Pep Club raises funds to help defray students' bus fares to away games and to provide the cheerleaders' equipment. The Homecoming Dance is sponsored annually as a major project. Through these club activities Pep Club encourages school spirit and good sportsmanship.

Varsity Club promotes a better understanding of P.H.S. athletics. Through fund-raising campaigns, the Club strives to improve the athletic facilities. This year a seven-man sled was purchased for the football team, and assistance was given in the promotion of the Varsity-Faculty Game, which raised the funds needed to purchase a new scoreboard for the gym.

The Petosegan Portrays the Old P.H.S.

Pete Staff is the hardest-working (in our opinion) organization in high school, having the enormous task of assembling the PETOSEGAN each year. Pictures, copy, layouts, and deadlines are just a few of the headaches that face the members. It's worth it, though, because our efforts are rewarded with a bigger and better Pete!

Hi-Y is a high school organization of Christian boys whose purpose is "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian character." Besides the regular meetings, occasional joint meetings are held with the Tri-Hi-Y. Hi-Y's activities include sponsoring a dance, an annual service project, and a picnic with Tri-Hi-Y. The Petoskey Hi-Y is affiliated with the state and the national Y.M.C.A.

Tri-Hi-Y

Tri-Hi-Y is an organization of high school girls that meets bi-monthly. These meetings are held in various churches to organize service projects or to hear guest speakers. The main project for the year was collecting commemorative stamps for the Y.M.C.A. sponsored International Leadership Exchange Program.

Student Council Aims for a Better School

Student council consists of an elected representative from each advisory and the class presidents. The purpose of the council is to better student-faculty-administration relations and to determine the general attitudes of the student body. This is accomplished by bringing student opinions to the meetings and taking faculty and administration opinions back to the advisories. This year, student council purchased a camera for the Hi-Light and sponsored Homecoming, the Crystal Ball, and junior high dances.

The Petosega Chapter of the National Honor Society recognizes students who have maintained high standards of scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Members must be in the top twenty-five per cent of the class scholastically. Five per cent of each class is eligible in the junior year, and ten per cent is eligible in the senior year.

The Honor Society ranks in high school as Phi Beta Kappa ranks in colleges and universities. The Petosega Chapter is the oldest organization in Petoskey High School.

Judo?

G.A.A. promotes interest among girls in athletic activities, good mental and physical health, good sportsmanship, and leadership. Striving to reach these goals, the club participated in intramural sports such as: basketball, volleyball, badminton, and tennis, and outings such as: bowling, horseback riding, hiking, roller skating, and canoeing. As a service project, they published the Student Handbook.

We found out that replacing eighteen seniors was a slow task this year. Our team did not really jell until the Cadillac game. Even though our team was not a veteran unit, our offensive unit scored more points than our 1964 team, and our defensive unit had less points scored on it than our 1964 team. If, and like all "ifs" it was a big one, we had had eight of the points that were scored against us distributed differently, our record would have been seven wins to one loss instead of four wins, three losses, and one tie. Probably the bright spots of our season were Ed Broman's kicks, John Miiller's tackles (for which he was awarded All State honors), the Cadillac game, and that sweet homecoming victory over Rogers City. With all the returning veterans in 1966, our coaching staff is quite optimistic. With a great attitude and a minimum number of injuries, we could have a fine season. I feel that our attitude will be affected greatly by our ENTIRE student body. I sincerely hope we as a team and you as a student body will christen our new high school properly.

Northmen on the Beam''

Beginning the season with all inexperienced boys, the fortunes of Petoskey High basketball team did not look bright. However, with determination, hustle and desire as the main ingredients, the team showed steady improvements and progressed rapidly until by the end of the season they were as strong as any ball team on the schedule. The season's success can, to a large extent, be credited to the determination of the boys to do well and by the enthusiasm displayed by the student body.

John captured the eye of all when he used this technique to make a basket.

Northmen Tom and John worried the guy in the middle with this squeeze play.

Despite the disadvantage in height, the Northmen fought for the rebounds.

FOURTH ROW: Bob Taylor, Gretchen Libke, Sue Webster, Bill Jewitt, Irene Tanner, Mr. Festerling--Coach, Arlove Phillips, Julie Woods.

The Ski Team put forth a fine effort this season in spite of the warm weather that cancelled a number of the meets. With Don Festerling as faculty advisor and Snuffy Smith of Boyne Highlands as instructor, the boys placed second, third, and first in three triangular meets, while the girls did almost as well with two seconds and a third. Both teams did a great job at the State Meet at Sugarloaf in Traverse City. Out of 27 schools represented, the boys finished third, and the girls finished seventh. The P.H.S. Ski Team expects another successful season from the girls' leader, Susie Reus, and two more great seasons from Tom Gratsch, the top boy skier.

All aboard!

A big jump from a small guy.

The P.H.S. track team participated in ten meets this year. Two of these were dual meets, one with Charlevoix and the other with Traverse City St. Francis. In both of these meets, the boys brought home first place honors. Petoskey entered the Newberry Invationals and placed fifth out of eight schools. Petoskey's only triangular meet was with Rogers City and Cheboygan in which the Northmen topped both teams. At both the Soo and Cheboygan Invationals, the Thinclads placed third. The Northmen were repeat champions over six schools at the Huron Straits Conference Meet. The team tied for second among the class B schools at the Petoskey Relays. Three team members qualified at the Regionals enabling them to participate in the State Finals. These three were Tom Harbaugh, Bob Belton, and Francis Hiar. Two new records were also set this year by Bob Belton on the pole vault and by Tom Harbaugh, who ran a new school record.
