It's been an exciting year. One that everyone will remember. Whether it is a senior year or a freshmen year, the memories will last. The incredible sports triumphs and the great academics will live in history. These are the days that shape our lives.

Everyone seemed to have a smile on their face despite all odds. The devastating accident in January seemed to effect everyone in the school, but people bounced back and moved on. These are the days that we remember!

Few aspects of PHS academics can compare to the excellent qualities of the PHS Math Department. From teaching by a knowledgeable and helpful staff, to the range of subjects offered, only a small number of students feel they can afford to end their math career after the two semesters required for graduation.

"Colleges look for a fairly extensive math record," comments Melissa Long (93), "so I felt I should take advantage of the PHS math curriculum and go further than just a year."

"I liked having the opportunity to take Calculus in preparation for the AP exam," added

Dave Bowman (93), referring to the Calculus exam offered in May that allows students to challenge their skills in hopes of earning college credit.

Even students that don't choose to go as far as Calculus in high school find themselves fully challenged in the areas of Algebra and Geometry, as well as Trigonometry.

Whichever level math class a student decides to attend, he can always be certain he will be getting a quality education and the benefits of a helpful staff in the PHS Math Department.

It's hard to find a better science department than the one at PHS. The curriculum is varied and exciting with a new discovery around every corner. Even though only one year of science is required for graduation, most PHS students take advantage of the numerous science offerings and take several more classes than just the requirement. Whether it's studying physics, doing an experiment in chemistry, or learning about our environment, students gain an abundance of knowledge about the world around them by the classes they take in science.

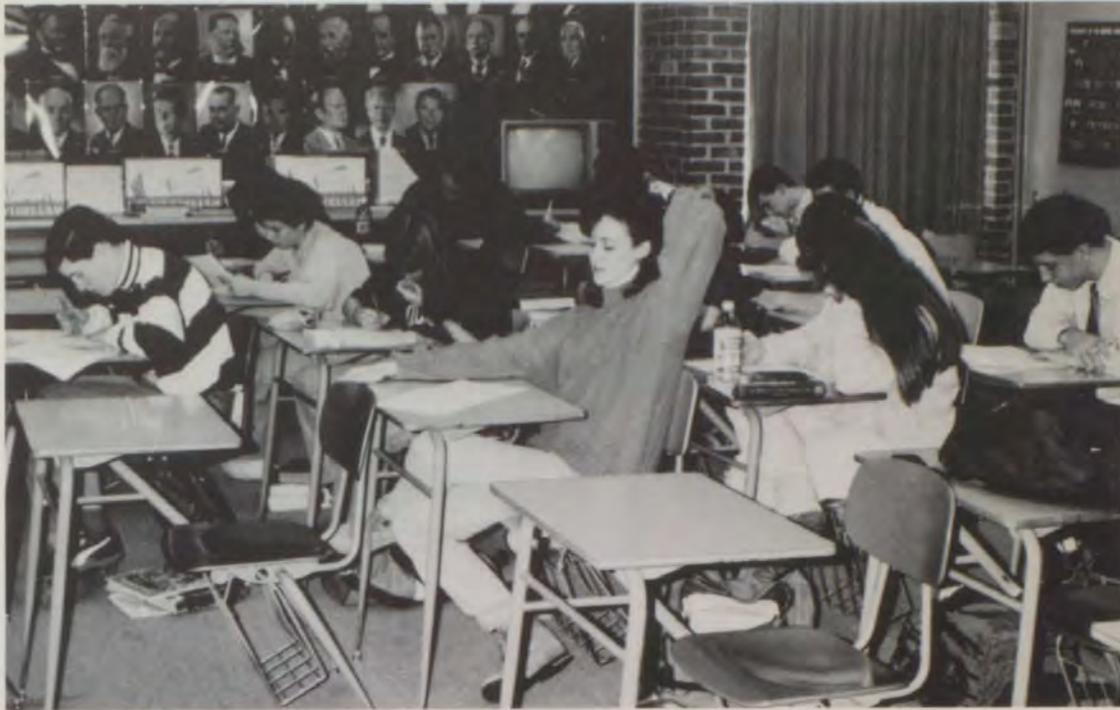

SOCIAL STUDIES

ABOVE: Going over her notes in a social studies class, senior Sarah Graham raises her hand to question some of the information.

Like many of the academic areas offered at PHS, the social studies department allows students an array of classes to enjoy. For the first three years of their high school career, most students enroll in World Geography, Government and U.S. History. As seniors, some elect to take World History, or catch up with social studies credits in such classes as Psychology, which was offered the first semester of the 1992-93 school year. The required classes of the social studies department, History and Government, give students insight to how our nation was formed, the obstacles it overcame to gain the quality it possesses now, and how the government operates. "I knew very little about our country and how it's run before I took the social studies classes that we're required to take at PHS," commented Jinhee Pettit (93). Without the extensive class offerings in the social studies department, students would not have as much opportunity to be exposed to this information, information that's essential in living and functioning in our society.

LEFT: Leafing through student work, Mr. Wiles leans back to reflect on an assignment.

ABOVE: Mrs. Lucky, in the midst of her first year as an English teacher at PHS, allows extra time to assist Aaron Jarvis (93) with a particularly complicated assignment.

The PHS English Department has always included all students at the high school, offering different levels of study according to a student's ability, as well as exploration of such elective courses as mythology, creative writing, and American Literature.

"This year, as a senior, I particularly enjoyed being able to find out more about the cultures and writing styles of other societies in both mythology and AP Lit," commented an enthusiastic Kelly Smith on the wide range of English courses offered at PHS.

By taking Advanced Composition, many students at the junior and senior levels were able to prepare for the core writing courses most colleges require, and also better their essay-writing skills for AP Literature, a difficult class consisting mainly of the analysis of classic works of literature from around the world. Both Advanced Composition and AP Lit offer students the opportunity to earn college credit with an Advanced Placement Exam in May.

Students benefit from the PHS English Department not only in acquiring the communication skills necessary to survive college and the world beyond, but in the range of material they are exposed to and participate in, like forensics, journalism, and speech, each of these courses executed by only the finest staff members.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

The Vocational Education Department at PHS offers students an extensive opportunity to learn trades and skills that will be of benefit outside the school environment. Art classes are offered at different levels, allowing students to advance from year to year. Drafting, auto mechanics, wood shop, electronics, business classes, and commercial foods are also available, and even attract the enrollment of students from other area schools. Such vocational classes give students a solid background to carry with them into a career, and provide skills used in daily life, whether or not they are career related, including typing, auto repair, and food preparation. Students can leave PHS with the secure feeling that they are capable of conquering whatever technology they face.

CO-OP gives students an opportunity to get a head start in the job market. It is nice to be able to make some money while also attending school. This program is designed to provide opportunities for students to develop employability skills through participation in a business or industry that relates to their career objectives.

Who is always there for all of your problems and concerns besides your mother? The school secretaries of course! The PHS secretaries help insure that everything runs smoothly and without a hitch for the students as well as for all of the staff. When you enter the office you are greeted with a smile and an offer of help. PHS is proud to have the best secretaries to be found in any school.

STUDENT LIFE

Left: Tim O'Brien ('94), Chauncey Tanton ('95), and Matt Adams ('95) pause to catch up on each other's activities in the hall. They, like all PHS students, have had the opportunity to participate in dozens of aspects of student life, from countless club activities and choir, to the Homecoming celebration and marching band.

HOMECOMING 1992

The most important part of Homecoming is the Friday night game. Even though we lost this year, the whole event turned out for the best. At halftime of the game the king and queen were crowned. The seniors elected the king and queen for 1992 and once again it turned out to be a huge success. The boys' court consisted of Ben Rossi, Chris Johnecheck, Paul Shirilla, Jeff Smith, and B.J. Hinsley. The girls on the homecoming court were Aimee Pumarejo, Angie Rinock, Sarah Graham, Katie Lintz and Sarah McDonnell. The king was B.J. Hinsley and queen was Sarah Graham. Homecoming 1992 was topped off with a dance held at the high school cafeteria. Homecoming made many wonderful memories; maybe this will be what everyone remembers.

MADRIGALS

This year the Chamber Choir learned once again what excellence means. The choir consists of students from the freshman class up to the senior class. This ensemble numbers approximately sixty-five members.

On December 22nd, the choir performed a wonderful Christmas concert at St. Francis. On March 11th, they went to Traverse City for the district choral festival where they received a straight one rating. From there they went on to the state festival in Jackson where they were the only choir to receive one ratings.

This years choir enjoyed learning new and challenging pieces and will miss Mr. Moffat while he is in Morocco.

MARCHING NORTHMEN

The Marching Northmen were spectacular again this year. They participated in the numerous parades in town as well as competitions and performances at the football games. Nice job!

Quilters

Quilters is set in the late 1800's to the early 1900's. It describes all the hardships that the women of that period had to go through. It showed the rough weather conditions and the tragedies. All the stories were told in the quilts they made. Each block told a different story.

Below: Like the support of the highway being painted, the production could not have gone on without the help of the stage crew.

West Side Story

This year's production was West Side Story. It is a 1950's Romeo and Juliet love story. It shows the differences between two cultures, the Puerto Ricans and the Americans. The two lovers meet, but the only problem is that they live on the opposite sides of the tracks. They fall in love at first sight. After one teen from both gangs are killed, a jealous PR kills the American teen. It all happened in just one weekend.

DEBATE

This year's debate team had another great year. Even though they lost some of their valuable talent from last year they had a lot of veterans returning to take over their spots and lead the team to a stellar year. The Novice, or first year debaters, placed in several tournaments and showed that they did indeed have the stuff that makes great debaters. The 1992-93 debate team was lead by Mrs. Howard once again and as always her experience and humor helped the team members a lot. With only 2 members of the team graduating this year next year's team will be packed with a ton of experienced talent and they are expected to have a stupendous year.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE CLUBS

The foreign language clubs kept busy this year planning and participating in an array of activities.

The French Club, lead by president Shannon Seldon (94), vice president, Kylee Leigel (94), secretary Gaby Deckinga (94), and Betsey Jung (95), planned a scavenger hunt in the fall, which was to begin at Seldon's house before taking members around Petoskey. To learn more about French culture, members also attended French movies at the McCune Art Center.

Bringing the foreign language clubs together was the thrilling annual volleyball game between French and Spanish students, which ended in a tie.

The Spanish students also took part in a scavenger hunt that sent members around town, and at a fall meeting, the club gathered at president Maren Oom's (94) house for a viewing of "The Three Amigos." Around Christmas, the Spanish Club celebrated with pinatas.

Other officers of the Spanish Club include Becky Janeczek (95), vice president, and Mike Sterly (93), treasurer.

ABOVE: Andi Glaser (96) and Maren Oom (94) make pinatas in preparation for a holiday celebration with Spanish Club.

EXCHANGE STUDENTS

Four exchange students from around the world livened the classrooms of the high school this year.

Wendy Clifford visited from England, and Simon Polak was from the Czech Republic. Nopacha Boonsong is a Thailand native, and Tanja Gauggel came from Germany to experience the culture of the United States.

The students blended well in PHS life, becoming part of various clubs and activities, and participating in school organizations, such as pep band, International Club, and the ski team.

"The culture (in the United States) is pretty similar to Germany, and the European influence is apparent here," commented Tanja, who adjusted to her classes easily, except for AP Lit, which was "a little hard at first."

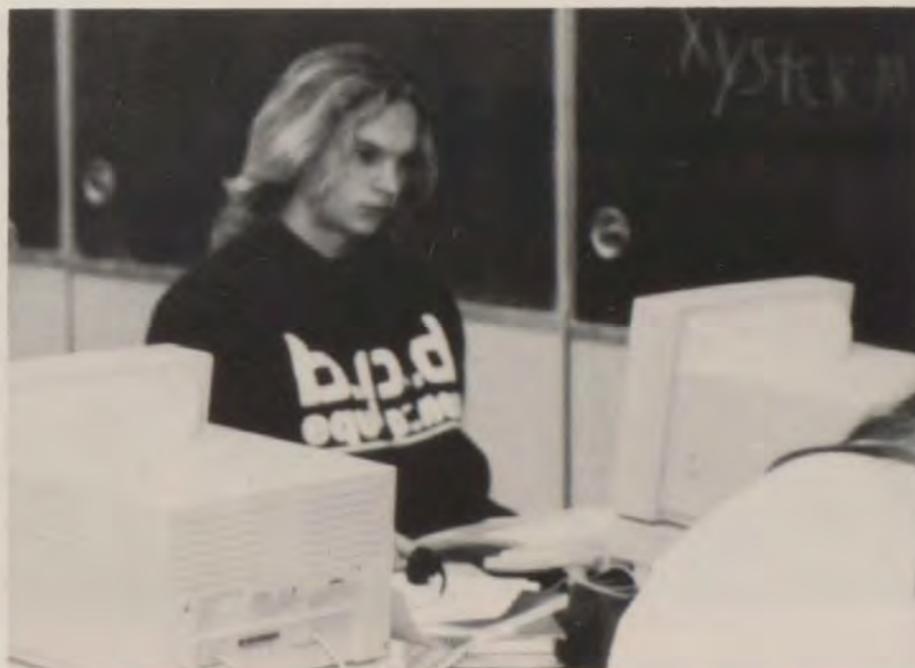

Some of the exchange students participated in the International Club Exchange Student Weekend, helping entertain area exchange students that were visiting Petoskey.

Overall, each of the four students were a welcome addition to the high school's daily routine.

BUSINESS

As one of the many clubs offered at PHS, the Business Club allows students interested in business careers to further their knowledge of skills necessary to be successful in a job situation. The club sponsors numerous fund raisers throughout the year to earn money for activities and equipment, including a type-a-thon that benefitted a Leukemia charity, holiday candy sales, and a food drive that provided holiday meals for the needy, not to mention flower sales at St. Patrick's Day and Valentine's Day. Often, the Business Club opens an information processing center that allows students to bring in papers to be typed for a small fee by the club members. The efforts of the 1992-93 Business Club have been recognized as a benefit to the entire community.

BELOW: One of the important business skills taught by PHS that can be used in almost any field is typing.

DECA

DECA, or Distributive Education Clubs of America, is another club that expands business knowledge in preparation for future success in a career. This club focuses on marketing, and involves students from Mr. Gunderson's vocational marketing class. Often, DECA members gain experience in the Pit Stop, PHS's school store, and participate in competitions involving DECA organizations from other schools, including the DECA quiz bowl. DECA is designed to teach not only business and marketing information, but leadership skills in business fields.

HOSA

Another club that helps students prepare for a career is HOSA, Health Occupational Students of America. Students from Claudia Bost's Health Careers courses are included in HOSA, and participate in various projects throughout the year. The 1992-93 HOSA prepared a presentation concerning organ donation, informing students and the community of the facts behind this subject. In addition to that project, students took their knowledge to competition at the regional and state levels, with Mark Bost (94), Mike Lintz (94), Erayna Daniel (93), and Lisa Stoddard (93) qualifying for national competition. Overall, HOSA, while preparing students for Health Occupations, had a productive and successful year.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

The International Club continued its tradition of sharing cultures this year with a variety of events.

To start out the year, members of the club, headed by co-presidents Kelly Smith (93) and Mary Borowski (93), raised $100 raking leaves for Maria Nicholson.

At another meeting, Tanja Gauggel, an exchange student from Germany, shared a slide presentation depicting highlights of her native region.

The most memorable event, however, of the International Club's events, took place in mid-February, when over 25 exchange students, spending a year with host families in nearby communities, spent a weekend with PHS students. The exchange students attended classes, went to a basketball game, a dance, and spent Saturday taking in the sights of Petoskey. Saturday night, the students held a pizza party at PHS.

"The weekend was an incredible success," stated Smith, coordinator of the event.

Other officers of the International Club are Annette Faust (94), historian, and Karen Shaw (94), treasurer.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Each year the underclassmen are one step closer to the reality of graduating. This year the students excelled in both academics and extra-curricular undertakings. Bigger and better things are looked forward to for next year.

CLASS OF 1996

FRESHMAN (FRESH'MAN), N. A NOVICE OR BEGINNER!

Upon entering high school, the freshmen have a mere 720 days before they will graduate in June of 1996. Their first year of high school is filled with classes and homework as well as new experiences. Not only are there homecomings and pep assemblies, but extra curricular activities to occupy their time. They also learn about many PHS traditions. Each year the freshmen become targets of upperclassmen pranks. This is simply the upperclassmen's way of welcoming them to their first year of Petoskey High School.

SOPHOMORE (SOF 'E MOR'), N. A STUDENT IN HIS OR HER 2ND YEAR.

In their second year of high school the sophomores have learned many things. They now have only 540 days before they will graduate in June of 1995. This year most sophomores will receive their most prized possession... a driver's license!!! They are no longer freshmen, joy of joys, but most importantly they are not targets for the upperclassmens' pranks! They have more choice over their class load, and are given more responsibilities. They've survived the tough year of being freshmen and it's smooth sailing for the rest of their three years at Petoskey High School....maybe!

CLASS OF 1994

JUNIOR (JOON ' YER) ADJ. A STUDENT WHO IS A YEAR BELOW THE SENIOR

Juniors... 360 days until their graduation in June of 1994. The Junior year is the toughest. Harder classes than the previous years and college plans take up a lot of time. In the fall, the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test, or PSAT, gives the juniors a taste of what is ahead in the SAT and ACT. Planning prom takes close to a full year to organize, so the juniors are busy with that as well. Although it is their busiest year yet, it's also an exciting year. They are almost seniors and as the eve of graduation dawns, they know that they are the top students on campus now. Freshman year seems so far away yet so does their own graduation. Good luck Juniors, and have a great senior year.

BELOW: NHS member, Amy Ronan (93), assists prospective blood donor, Toby Frank (93) during the spring blood drive.

"We've seen a lot of participation among our members this year," said president Mary Borowski (93), of the National Honor Society's activities.

Students showing scholarship, leadership, service, and character, who had also maintained above a 3.4 GPA throughout their high school career, were inducted last spring into the NHS at an annual ceremony. Since then, officers Borowski, Eric Daniel (93), vice president, Bekki Spencer (93), secretary, and Matt Farrugia (93), treasurer, were elected to head the group of 16 students.

Among the society's major activities were two blood drives. "We had an impressive turnout for our blood drive this year," commented Sarah Graham (93), Blood Drive Coordinator.

"Our tutoring has been a real success, too," added Jeff Smith (93) of the tutoring service the NHS provides for PHS students struggling in particular areas of study.

The National Honor Society also plans to sell candy as a fund raiser this year to help cover the various expenses of the blood drives, and the costs of the induction ceremony, which took place in March.

38 new members were welcomed into the Society this year, all of whom have already begun various services to their fellow students since being inducted.

The student council had its first meeting weeks before school was even in session. Due to an early Homecoming, the council was busy at work. Homecoming went off flawlessly thanks to the hard work and dedication of the members. The student council also had several other projects to occupy the school year. Pat Boss, the director of the Michigan Association of Student Councils held a morning meeting with the council, concentrating on school improvement ideas. In addition, the council organized a school wide money contest which raised $1,000.00 for the Manna project. In all, the council had a successful year and has many projects to carry on into next year.

The Future Farmers of America have been continually striving this year to prepare for a busy schedule of competitions with other FFA chapters in the region, hoping to go on to the state level, and finally compete on the national level.

The members of FFA, who study agriculture, annually compete in different aspects of business, including job interviews, public speaking, and parliamentary procedure, or the conduction of a business meeting. Demonstrations that allow students to show their knowledge and compete against others with similar skills also play a role in FFA.

Members attend a state convention in early March to deal with FFA business at the state level, where officers are nominated, followed by an election to decide who will head particular areas. Dawn Swartzfisher (94) is vice president of the region, while Mike Sterly (93) is treasurer. Officers of the PHS chapter are Swartzfisher, president; Jodi Krussel (93), vice president; Sarah Kopp (93), secretary; and Holly Neff (93), treasurer. Reporter is Michelle Kern (93), and setenial is Fiona Chingwa (93).

PHS Varsity Football

The seniors made their last football season in high school their best ever. Until this year, the class of '93 had never won more than two games a season. The senior class pulled the team together and led it on to a successful year. The Northmen won their last two games to make it a winning season with five wins and four losses.

Most were dissatisfied that they had as many losses as they did. and feel they could have done better. Coach Farris said, "Our offense just didn't turn the ball over." But no one can deny, the strong Northmen defense held back their opponents. Overall they allowed the least amount of points scored against them in the league.

Through the years, the football team has faced some tough battles, but always with their competitive spirit. Last year, Alpena crushed Petoskey, enforcing the dreaded mercy rule. This year Petoskey came back to beat them 21 to 14. When the graduating senior season, they will always remember that victory.

PHS Varsity Soccer

The 1992 soccer season was different from last year. Although the season ended on a sour note, the team played very well during the season. Petoskey went up against some of the top teams in the state to make this the toughest schedule faced by a PHS soccer team. The Northmen compiled an impressive 14-4-4 record. Senior leadership was excellent this year and along with help from Freshmen Mark McClutchey and Matt VanderNaald, and newcomer Jeremy Huffman, this year's team was one of the best ever. Justin Matzka lead the scoring while Ahmyn Masci and Kevin Vorenkamp anchored the defense. Ben Rossi set a new all time scoring record for Petoskey. Strong mid field play came from Jeff Smith and Cory Hendricks while goal keeper Paul Shirilla earned fourteen shut-outs. Another highlight came when Junior Kevin Vorenkamp was given honorable mention for All-State, Class B while Seniors Paul Shir-illa and Ben Rossi were named to the first team All-State, Class B. Coach Scott Batchelor once again did an exceptional job and the soccer team is fortunate to have him as the coach. It's evident that the soccer tradition will be carried on for many years to come.

J.V. SOCCER

The 1992-93 boy's J.V. Soccer had another one of their great seasons. They finished the season with a record of 5-6-2. Their season was filled with a lot of old talent and a batch of new talent from the freshman class. The team looks promising for next year and it looks as though Coach Batchelor will have his hands full when the soccer season rolls around next year.

This year's girls Varsity Basketball team had another great season. With a lot of returning veterans and with the help of a few newcomers, including freshman Rachael Brown, the team was all set for a great season. The team had a lot of high expectations at the beginning of the season and throughout the season the girl's were able to fullfill many of the personal goals they had set for themselves at the beginning of the season. Even though they suffered some heartbreaking losses there were bittersweet victories to counterbalance the losses. Even though the team will be losing five seniors they will still have five other members of this year's team to help get next year's season off to a great start. Playing in their final season were seniors Katie Lintz, Keri Vigneau, Jacy McFarland, Sarah McDonnell and Rachel Alofs.

Girls Varsity Tennis

"We had a winning season more from our mental strength than our physical strength."

Kim Thompson(94)

"Out of my four years as a high school tennis player, our 1992 team has been the strongest yet," Korrie Kiebel (93) stated enthusiastically of the PHS girls' tennis team.

The team began their season with a powerful win at the Boyne Mountain Invitational, and continued completely undefeated, 10-0, in dual matches. Coach Karen Langs said "I've had wonderful years, but this is right at the top."

The girls' tennis team also received second place in the Traverse City Quad, and third place in the Traverse City Invationals.

Most significantly, however, the 1992 team became the first ever PHS girl's tennis team to win regional competition, tying with Flint Powers. All the girls competing at regionals were veteran varsity tennis players, including the victorious doubles pair, Nicole Tramontini and Betsy Niswander, and #2 and #3 singles players, Misty Franseth (93) and Kiebel. At the season's end, the team had achieved 12th place in the state championship.

"Our team was one big happy family that 'Annihilated'" Amy Ronan(93) exclaimed.

Voted Most Valuable Players were Kiebel and Franseth. Kiebel was also awarded the title of Most Outstanding Player, while Sara Buffington (94) was chosen to be Most Improved of the season.

Mrs. Langs sums up the remarkably successful season with words of praise. "I've been coaching this for 14 years but this year was really special"

The cheerleaders for the 1992-1993 sports season faced many changes from previous years. With the resignation of the former coach, two new coaches were hired to lead the squads. Along with the transition of coaches came the change in camps. They, along with many other talented girls from around the state, attended a competition camp hosted by the DCA (Dynamic Cheerleaders Association). Both squads, the Junior Varsity/Freshmen combined and the Varsity, returned from DCA with marks qualifying them for competition at national level in Kansas City, MO. Although they declined the invitation to attend this competition, it was an honor to the squads, coaches, and the school to qualify.

BOYS' SKIING

The 1992-93 Petoskey Boy's Skiing team had another great season. This year there were five returning varsity members from last year's team. The team was led by senior Ben Rossi and junior David Phillips.

The team had its' ups and downs. They placed in the top three in most of their meets and placed first in two of their meets. The team tied for second place in their conference and at regionals even though the team placed third, Phillips and Rossi were individual qualifiers for state finals.

Although the team didn't advance to state finals they still had a good season and many of the team's members accomplished personal goals they had set for themselves at the beginning of the season. Skiing as seniors this past season were: Ben Rossi and Roger Gietzen.

Proving to everyone why he is a valuable asset to the team, Ben Rossi (93) maneuvers around a gate and looks for the next one.

GIRL'S SOCCER

The girls soccer team this year is off to a great start. This year has been a breaking point in the girls' struggle to become a team rather than a club.

They were awarded varsity status by the school board. The varsity team has around 16 or 17 players while the J.V. team has 20 to 30 members.

This year they will have to play teams for such places as Traverse City, Gaylord, Greenville, Charlevoix and Harbor Springs.

Coaching the team this year is Julie Jacobson, Petoskey High School science teacher. Helping out with the team are varsity soccer veterans Ben Rossi and Jeff Smith and Ian Bratz. Jacobson also assisted in helping the girls ski team to pursue their third state championship this year.

Heather McCoy is quoted as saying "There were about 25 girls last year, but we expect more this year."

"I'm so excited that we received varsity status this year; we've worked extremely hard to get this far," stated three year team member Erayna Daniel (93).

Senior Aimee Pumarejo gets a running start in order to get ahead of the ball, while team-mate Emily Teske (95) looks on.

WINTER GUARD

The gym of Central School is crowded with adoring basketball fans. After the team leaves for half time the crowd hears the opening notes of "Orinoco Flow" as this year's Winter Color Guard comes out on the floor.

This year's selection of songs included "Orinoco Flow" by Enya, "Carry On My Wayward Son" by Kansas, and "Cause I'm a Blond" by Julie Brown.

The eleven girls participating in this year's guard worked extremely hard on their show. They spent many hours going over the same eight counts until it was perfect.

Great job girls! We're all looking forward to next year's performance.

Volleyball

This year's Varsity Volleyball team was led for a third year under head coach Edie Pearsall. Once again, this year's team sported a lot of familiar faces. In fact 6 members of last year's team returned with the help of 5 new players which included 2 seniors, 2 juniors and a sophomore.

The team, led by co-captains Kristen Blachy (93) and Tina Harrington (93), had a great season. "This season was more exciting because we had more set-ups and close matches. We also worked better as a team", said Kristen Blachy (93).

The freshness that the new players brought and the invaluable experience of the returning players helped lead this year's team to a great season. "Many new players made the team and were a great asset through-out the season", commented Tina Harrington (93).

All in all, it was a great season with the team finishing with a record of 11-17-11. Korrie Kiebel summed up the season with these words: "Our record may not show what a great team we had this year but it really was the best volleyball team this school has had in a long time".

J.V. VOLLEYBALL

February 24 marked a strong victory for the JV Volleyball team against Charlevoix.

That night was also Parents' Night. Between the J.V. and Varsity games, parents received flowers from their daughters.

Coach Carla Kanine said, "Winning our Parents' Night match was a plus. The girls played with a lot of desire. It was nice to have the parents there supporting us that night and throughout the season."

The final record for the girls was 4-15-3. The team totaled 520 points for the entire season. Every girl got a chance to play and score.

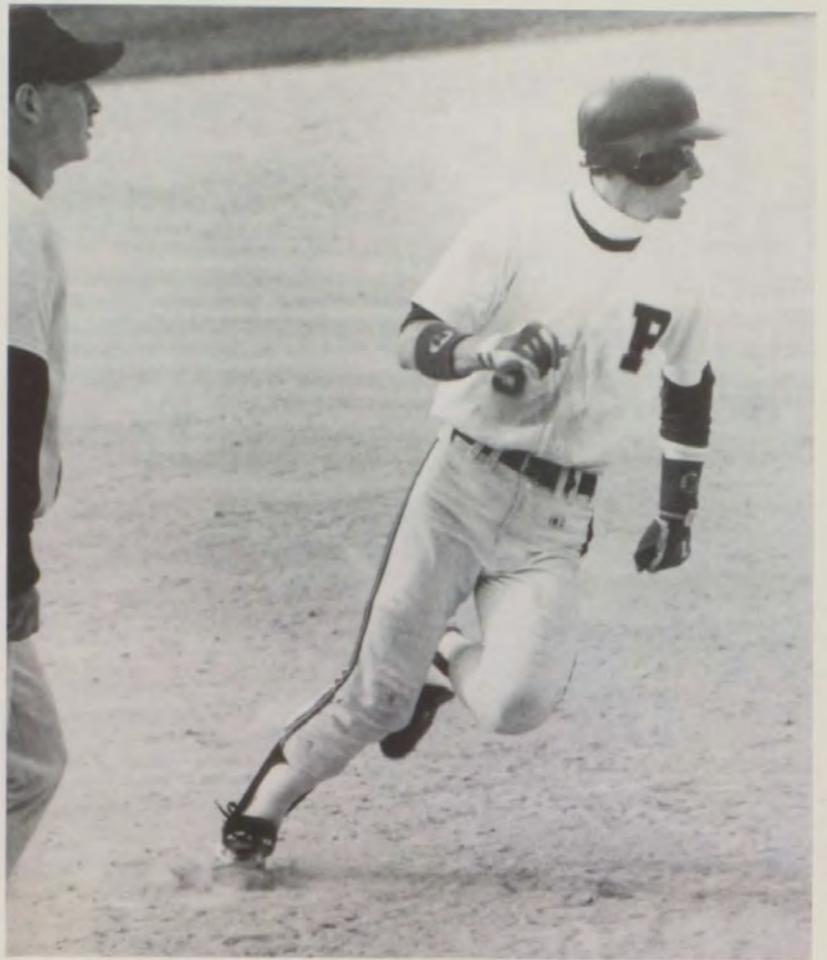

Coach Carla Kanine added. "I was really pleased with how everyone got along, personality-wise. That alone created a very strong team." — Shelly VanSlot (95)

Another win for the boys track team.

The Northmen hosted several meets this season and were successful most of the time. There were several runners taking first places. Some of the outstanding track stars for the '93 season were; Dave Shuman — 1600m, Jason King — 100m and 200m, Phil Hoover — high jump, Eric Daniel — 3200m, Toma Fettig — discus, Keith Smith — pole vault, and Matt Farrugia — 300m hurdles.

The boys relay team, consisting of King, Brian Bucher, Jon Kallio, and Dwayne Harrison, also ran excellent races this year. All in all it was an exciting and successful year for the Northmen.

Like the proms of past years, this year's junior/senior prom provided the dozens of enthusiastic students in attendance with indelible memories of the night's events.

Most began the evening with dinner at one of the area's many finer restaurants, though some chose less traditional locations to eat. Afterward, students arrived at Nubs Nob for the dance, and were greeted by valet parking attendants before passing under an arch of red and black balloons to enter Alice's "Wonderland."

Friends welcomed each other in the spacious lodge, pausing in conversation long enough to enjoy the vast arrangement of hors d'oeuvres and desserts offered in the bar area. In the transformed cafeteria, a live band provided an endless stream of music for dancing on the crowded dance floor.

"I think everyone seemed to be enjoying themselves. I enjoyed being able to share the festivities with friends," commented Tanja Gauggel, a German exchange student, summing up the mood of the 1993 junior/senior prom.

A FINAL JOURNEY

THE SENIORS VENTURE TO CEDAR POINT

Following tradition, the 1993 senior class departed from the high school June 5 at 12:10 am for their 7-hour journey to Cedar Point, an amusement park located in Sandusky, Ohio. Piling into three charter buses, toting backpacks filled with food, drinks, and Walkmans, accompanied by two chaperones per bus, the seniors looked eagerly ahead to a day full of such activities as roller coaster riding and taking in the sights of the park.

Stopping off for breakfast in Sandusky at a groggy 6:30 am, most of the students were hungry and cramped, having been folded snugly into double bus seats for hours, snatching naps between the occasional conversations and card games that took place. When the buses finally rolled through the gates of Cedar Point, and students were handed their admission tickets, the excitement was high as everyone strategically chose which roller coaster they would board first. Many decided on the Magnum, the biggest ride at Cedar Point, while others opted for the tamer attractions, including a chilly water ride, Thunder Canyon, that left students shivering under the overcast sky. No matter what amusements the students chose, few can say they didn't enjoy the Cedar Point cuisine of corn dogs and hamburgers.

After an exhausting day of adventure, students gathered at the entrance for final picture taking as they waited for the buses to retrieve them. The ride home included a stop at a mall outside Toledo, Ohio, where seniors and chaperones feasted at a food court and roamed through the stores. The buses were quieter on the return trip as everyone reflected on their final journey together as the class of 1993.

GRADUATION

Graduation was once again held at The Bay View Auditorium. It was an evening of excitement for the graduates as well as the observers. The seniors in the band and the choir performed for the last time as PHS students. Then it was "Hats Off" and on to the senior party held at Victories.

President Jeff Smith and Mr. Bob Doctor at graduation.

On the way to graduation.

Mr. Doctor gives his congratulations.

Pensive graduation thoughts.

A bevy of beautiful seniors.

Pals even after graduation.

THE CLASS OF 1993

Finally, the senior year has arrived. Only 180 days to graduation and most seniors count every one. Most college applications have been sent and acceptance letters have been received. After that it's smooth sailing to graduation. Of course, there are still several things to worry about such as prom, the senior trip, and, of course, the famous all night graduation party. The seniors can expect a fun year to remember for the rest of their lives.
