"Total self-confidence is built through positive expectations. You can build positive expectations by knowing that you have the power within to overcome any obstacle that lies ahead. So many people have a magnetic attraction to the past. They save momentos, clippings, old letters, and trivia. There is nothing wrong with this, but if you want to succeed, your mind must focus on where you are going, not on where you have been. Instead of saving momentos, clippings, old letters, and trivia from the past, it would be more productive to make a scrapbook with pictures of where you want to go and what you want to be in the future."

Summer Tans and Future Plans

Summer was a time for relaxing, having no worries, and fun in the sun, but as school started to approach, students found themselves pondering their goals for the upcoming year. Annalee Stonehouse (12) said that her goals were "to get good grades, and overall have a good time, considering it's my senior year." Elizabeth Slater (12) said that her goals were "to get her college applications filled out, and hopefully get accepted to Grand Valley State University."

We're Still Moving Forward!

The tennis season started off with a great swing as the varsity boys launched into a series of successful matches. "When I was younger and went to Montessori school we used to play by the tennis courts at recess and I guess that's where I started my interest in tennis," claimed senior Ian Morrison.

The boys on varsity tennis were not the only ones bringing home that "True Blue" pride. The girls varsity golf team made everyone here at PHS proud as they made their way to States for the first time in our school's history. Senior Olivia Pizzi even managed to break the all-time girls golf record. Way to go girls, PHS couldn't be more proud.

Pythagoras discovered the Pythagorean theorem in 530 B.C.; the great accomplishments of math are a huge part of history. That is why we today take the time to learn both the subjects of math and history. The teachers at PHS have really inspired their students to set high goals for themselves and, with their guidance, we can achieve those goals. With the knowledge we now have from these classes, we can be the ones to accomplish the great things of our future.

Petoskey Equestrian Team had a great 2011-2012 year. The riders on the team demonstrated their determination to do their best. Almost every rider tried something new and out of their comfort zone to benefit the team. They advanced from districts in Gaylord to regionals in Ludington without a problem. Unfortunately, state finals was not in the playing cards for the team. I was pretty disappointed not to go to states this year. Next year is my last year so hopefully we can make it happen!” expressed Kaitlyn Gillis (13).

"The best part of marching band is the feeling of winning a competition and knowing you've done your best and participating in steel drum band," said Danielle Paquette (13). Winning; a word that the PHS marching band heard very often in 2012. They took home first place and grand champion awards at all three competitions and showed how hard work and dedication can lead to victory.

The Northmen Varsity Volleyball Team had a strong season winning 40 games, "Which is a pretty nice accomplishment," said Coach Heather Miller. The team ended the season with just nine losses and one tie. Four seniors from the team will be graduating, Catharine Kidd, Anna Godzik, Katelyn Crittenden and Kaitlyn Ostrander. The Northmen volleyball players were BNC champs and made it through the first round of districts. Great job girls.

Homecoming Spirit Week

Spirit Week is a time to show school spirit and loyalty. The Homecoming spirit days were: Denim Day, Solid Color Day, "ER" Day, Lost in Space Day, and Blue and White Day. "This year, student council tried to come up with spirit days that we haven't done in the past," Carter Cohen (13).

The Cross Country team showed how practice makes perfect by having three runners, Frederick Lierderbach (12), Sarah Goble (15) and Sydney Hopp (15), make it all the way to states. "The thing I like best about cross country is the unity on the team, and camp at Petosega. When I went to states I had an amazing time and felt achieved with my place," said Sydney Hopp.

Fast feet, quick thinking, and communication, all a few of the key elements needed to win a game. The boys soccer team made it all the way to districts where they had a tough battle with Mt. Pleasant. They played well and stayed strong throughout the entire season and took home the BNC championship.
"I'm taking building trades because I want to learn how to build a house and be able to use these tools for the future. I don't want to be the girl who doesn't know squat, I want to know exactly what I'm talking about," said Logan Hebert (12).

Build it Up and

Building Trades and Auto Technology are two classes that offer a "hands on" experience. They are both two hours long and consist of various projects. For example, students learn how to build a house from the ground up and when it is finished, they donate the house to Habitat for Humanity. Students also learn how to fix brakes and rebuild a whole motor.

Mr. Hauser works with Hunter Stinger (12) on his own car. Many students bring in their own vehicles, being that the service for repairs end up cheaper through the school.

Fashion: n. a style of dress, behavior, way of living, or other expression that is popular at present. The students of PHS often show their individuality through their style. But remember what Dale Carnegie said, "The expression a woman wears on her face is more important than the clothes she wears on her back."
Leading the team, Joseph Robbins (12) made school history by having the most touchdowns scored, yards ran, and interceptions. The hard work the PHS Varsity football team put in during the season really paid off; they ended the season with nine wins, two losses and were BNC Champions. Football is one of the many full contact sports played by high school students. "The best part of football is hitting people," Eian Delph (12).

FCCLA (Family, Career and Community Leaders of America) is a national student leadership organization. At PHS, the club was run by the students of Mrs. Kennedy's creative teaching class. President Leah Stoner (12), a second year FCCLA member, and Vice President Caitlin Strobel (12), a first year member, did an amazing job getting the rest of the girls involved in the community. FCCLA participated in state leadership conferences and students that received gold medals went on to the national conference in Orlando, Florida. The creative teaching class participated in "field experience," in which they went once a week to the middle school, elementary schools, daycares, etc. in the area. They visited for an hour to observe and help out when needed. They had a lot of fun working with the kids and looked forward to it each week.

"Leaving Iowa" is a nostalgic story about a writer, Don (played by Mitchell Barrows), looking for a place to scatter his father's ashes. Whilst doing this, he reminisces over the many family vacations he took as a child. Don meets plenty of crazy characters on his journey and finds himself along the way too.

PLS offers so many wonderful opportunities for students: sports, clubs, band, volunteer groups, and choir among many others. The Madrigal Singers and Bella Voce are two of the choirs in which many students participate. The Madrigals began practicing Christmas songs on the very first day of school to prepare for their very busy holiday season; they had thirteen performances all over northern Michigan. Bella Voce also sang in the annual Christmas concert at the St. Francis Church; the two choirs performed fall, spring, and "Pops" concerts as well.

Giving back to the community is key in life and provides a cheerful feeling in your heart. Key Club, National Honor Society (NHS), and the Mentor Program are three clubs at PHS that know a lot about giving. NHS donated their time to the community by bell ringing during the holidays, they helped stock food at Manna, and put on the Red Cross blood drive. The Key Club did similar activities that included visiting the animals at The Little Traverse Bay Humane Society, making blankets for families in need, and helping people in the hospital. The Mentor Program gave their time to the freshmen of PHS; they helped them get comfortable in the high school and gave them tips on how to make the most of their next four years.

"I love being a member of Key Club because I love the feeling I get after I visit the humane society or help a family in need. I just get overjoyed with happiness."
Megan Heintechel (15)

"My role in the NHS has been positive and beneficial. The many community service opportunities have led me to meeting a variety of people. As a result I have gained new skills and a sense of accomplishment."

"I volunteered my services to the FCCLA talent show because I greatly enjoy presenting myself on stage in front of mass quantities of people. I used to be a prolific actor, back in the day, and I miss those days. Thank you for your time. Good night," said James Scollin (12)

American Idol doesn't have a thing on the talented students of Petoskey High School. Back stage, the students waited around anxiously for the curtain call. To ease up the tension both in the crowd and behind stage, MC senior James Scollin cracked a few jokes before announcing the first contestant to take center stage. Singers and musicians alike competed for the top prize, a coupon for Wendy's. After the last of the contestants preformed, it was time to pick out the winner. After lining up in a single row, the contestants waited anxiously for the results. The crowd screamed for their favorite act to signify the winner. It seemed that there was going to be an unofficial tie between all the acts, until they reached Lara Fullford. The crowd screamed and whistled for two minutes straight for the talented Lara, and it was then that the next Petoskey High School Idol was crowned.

The returning team, as forwards, consisted of seniors Dallas Worden, Ian Morrison, and Patrick Gitre, juniors Tanner Davis, Derek Smith, and sophomore Ben Schwartzfisher. The team also included the returning defensive line of senior Hunter Stinger and juniors Nick Trombley, Kevin Hansen, and Kenneth Forton. New to the team were Nikolas Kolodziej (13) and Zachary Gadowski (14) as defensive men, and Michael Forton (15) as an offensive man.

From cutting weight to intense muscle straining practices, the effort one puts into wrestling always affects the outcome. The players learned to never underestimate their opponents because people could surprise them. Even though the team had no state qualifiers this year, each member took a step up from last year.

After the state championship win, the Northmen came away with six straight victories including a victory at the regional, state, three Big North Conferences and the invitational competitions.

The girls came in second, trailing Harbor Springs. Both teams tied for Giant Slalom with 39 points. For the Northmen, Lisa Dinon (13) came in fifth in Giant Slalom and sixth in Slalom while Jill Antonishen (13) came in ninth in both races.

Doctors, nurses, and early physicians, the medical field is endless. For those students at Petoskey High School who see their future in scrubs and pristine, white lab coats, the Medical Occupations class is the perfect place to start. "Med. Occ. is a great class to get into for preparation before getting into the medical field or even to have a small taste of what exactly the field has to bring," explained Med. Occ. II student Megan Kosan (12).

With the various studies of the human body and how it works, it is only proper that skills learned in this class were put to the test in a state wide competition known as HOSA (Health Occupation Students of America). Students from all around Michigan gather to compete against other schools in a specific medical skill. All of the students competing from Petoskey High School placed in the 2012 HOSA and then prepared for the next stage of the competition, which took place in Traverse City.

With love and pride, Petoskey’s boys basketball team blew everyone away by winning nearly every game. How exactly did they do this? With great effort and teamwork, of course. Most of the boys had played together before, which made it easier for them to get along. They conveyed dedication for the game both as individuals and as a team. They are indeed the basketball stars of the future.

There isn't much of a difference between jazz band and hip-hop dancing; both are passionate and colorful arts. They take skill, determination, and hours of practice. The dance team and jazz band worked countless hours to provide a show, which was their time to shine in front of the student body. The showmanship they portrayed was very impressive and difficult to ignore; the heart and soul they put into performing was hard to come by anywhere else but here at Petoskey High School.

"Music is the hardest kind of art. It doesn't hang up on a wall and wait to be stared at and enjoyed by passersby. It's communication. It's hours and hours being put into a work of art that may only last, in reality, for a few moments... but if done well, and truly appreciated, it lasts in our hearts forever. That's art. Speaking with your heart to the hearts of others."

-Mr. Dan Romano

19TH  24TH  FEBRUARY
The purpose of spirit week was to get students pumped up for the game and ready to cheer for their team. Some students went all out while others did not dress up quite as much. Either way, spirit week proved to be a great time for students to convey their support for PHS and get excited for the Snowcoming game and dance.

Snowcoming!

Wild, Wild West
The students of Petoskey High joined for music, dancing, and fun with friends for Snowcoming 2012. Student council representative Nicholas Godfrey (12) ran the pep assembly, which was held on Thursday; the court was announced and they participated in several team activities. Snowcoming King and Queen were Keegan Reynolds (12) and Gabrielle VandenBrink (12).

The boy's varsity basketball team won the game against Ogemaw Heights on Friday, making everyone that much more excited for the next day's festivities. To get into the dance, students walked through swinging "saloon" doors and onto a hay-filled dance floor. The hoe-down theme dance was a success and the students showed their support for PHS throughout the week of Snowcoming.
Several organizations at Petoskey High School have allowed students to articulate their knowledge through competitions that highlighted their skills and competencies. Quiz Bowl, Debate, and Model United Nations continued their display of excellence as Petoskey High School had their first ever freshman, Kiana Wood, receive top honors at the Model United Nations state competition. In addition, Robert Manges received a thousand dollar scholarship for his outstanding essay.

Not to be outdone, the Petoskey Debate team also showed their ability to excel at competitions as they won the 2012 state championship, as sophomore debate members Ivy Carpenter, Jackson Burek, and Eli Ellison brought home the gold.

Quiz Bowl finished 71 and 38, winning two Char-Em tournaments. In addition, the team competed at Central Michigan University and Michigan State University, rounding out their season.

Student Council

Each year, the students of PHS take the time to elect officials to represent their class. Democracy is a great right that we have in America and we applied it at the high school. The officers elected by the student body, made decisions such as the theme for Snowcoming and what the next fundraiser was. They helped the school raise money and be the best it could. The tasks the student council undertook were not easy, they had challenges such as where and when to hold the Snowcoming dance, but with the suggestions of the student body they overcame both obstacles. The students of PHS elected them to represent the high school and they did a great job listening to the student body.

What is the Hardest Part of Running Student Council?

"I would say the hardest part of running student council is that we have so many different activities going on that it gets chaotic sometimes. There are a lot of things that go unnoticed. Being a student in a role of power, no one really notices the little things that you do for them, such as the dances or even just a phone call to get a donut day going. A lot of the times it's a thankless job. Students need to realize how much their student council does for them."

If You Can't Take the Heat...... Stay out of the Kitchen

The pressure is on. What should you use? Which direction do you take it? These are the thoughts running through the mind of a chef. In commercial foods Mr. Sommerfeildt taught students about the food groups and how to use them together in order to prepare a delicious dish. But similar thoughts could be going through the of the mind of an athlete. Mr. Starkey and Mr. Arthur have revolutionized the physical education of Petoskey. It allowed preparation for team activities and also gave students a wide variety of sports and games to learn from and experience. The pressure may be on, but with these two classes students learned how to handle it. Some major events in the foods room included but were not limited to, the Purple Hat Ladies Luncheon and the Project Connect day.

In the far corner of the Petoskey High School cafeteria, students of Mr. Joel Hunt began their preparation for the departure to the DECA state finals in Dearborn, Michigan. DECA is an association for marketing students who partake in classes such as Retailing, Marketing I or Marketing II throughout high school. Thirty-one students represented Petoskey High School in the 2012 ‘Aspire Higher’ DECA State finals. Though, on the warm Saturday evening after the final scores were tallied by the judges, sixteen Petoskey High School students were chosen to go to Internationals in Salt Lake City, Utah. The students that qualified were Brad Berkau (12), Hayley Fettig (12), Hunter Reeves (12), Lucas Robbins (12), Nicholas Trombley (13), Cameron Muller (12), Dallas Worden (12), Adam Bayer (13), Samuel Blankenhagen (13), Cassandra Price (12), Haylee Raikko (12), Andrew Shaefer (13), Rilla Snedden (12), Chase Donakowski (12), Karl Sangeorzan (13), and Gerard Sullivan (13).

MARY KEEDY
CLASS OF 2012!
"Once social change begins, it cannot be reversed. You cannot uneducate the person who has learned to read. You cannot humiliate the person who feels pride. You cannot oppress the people who are not afraid anymore. We have seen the future, and the future is ours."

Cesar Chavez
The 2011-2012 Fetosegan, volume 89 was published by Jostens Yearbook Company. Within the 400 books printed this year, there are 168 creative, all color pages. The cover is custom litho, with a trim measured at 7 3/4 x 10 1/2 inches. Custom art design was used, high gloss litho 478 cover material, process color 317 for cover application and gloss lamination.

The fonts that we used in the book were Ashley, Christina Print, Emilee, Helvetica, Jeremy Pointed, Odle Wall, Olive Oil, Pathfinder, Rigid, Serpentine ICG, and Times, with sizes ranging from 8 to 48 point.

Our yearbook representative, Mr. Tom Keiawetter, met with us frequently to aid in the creation of the yearbook. The 2011-2012 yearbook staff used Jostens Online Yearbook Avenue to produce the book and Geskus Photography was our main provider for mug shots.

The yearbook staff would like to say thanks to Mrs. Grangood, Mrs. VanHorn, Mrs. Richardson, and Mrs. Henley. They provided a great deal of information and were always happy to help. The staff would also like to thank other faculty, coaches, advisors, and parents who helped provide accurate information.

Lastly, a big thank you goes out to all the businesses that helped the yearbook by purchasing advertisements. Without their help the production of the book would not have been possible.
