Q&A

What does being a part of the football team mean to you?

"It's a second family. It's like walking around with 11 brothers. You know how intimidating it is if you were about to fight someone & your 11 brothers step out to the left & right of you. It's wild!"

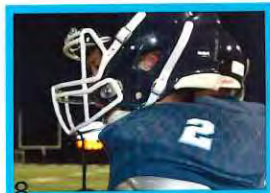

Patrick Leavy

"Being a part of the football team to me means a good group of young men having each other's backs on and off the field. It also means having fun and working hard."

Equestrian Team

Q & A

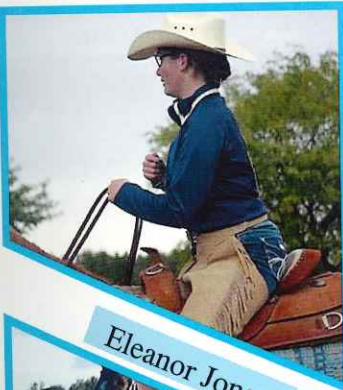

What does being apart of the equestrian team mean to you?

"The Petoskey Equestrian team was a group of three girls this season. We worked together through blood, sweat, & tears; we became a family. The team is all about positive attitudes & excelling at both showing and working with your horse. Not only is it a learning experience for the riders, but for the animals as well." - Eleanor Jones

During the 2018-2019 wrestling season, the team had 5 regional qualifiers, Rippin Vining, Peter Kurburski, Dawson Gregory, Aleksei Sharapov, and Isaac Abram-Craig. Rippin Vinning qualified for states.

For the first time in PHS Wrestling history, the team earned Academic All-State. We are all very proud of that accomplishment as well as the outstanding record of 23-3 and 2nd in the BNC.

Camden Smith

World Quest is like a global quiz bowl. All topics are global in nature and come from academic papers, newspapers and magazines. World Quest is a national competition where winning teams from each state compete in Washington D.C. The state of Michigan has only been competing for five years (Petoskey has been competing for four out of the five years). In the 2018-2019 school year the World Quest team Kanye Quest placed 5th overall out of fourteen teams. Petoskey High School holds Michigan's highest score on record.

Nathaniel Wurster

Hunter Gutt

"It felt great to work really hard on all the preparations before the competition and be able to relax and have fun once the event started."

- Hunter Gutt

Kanye Quest

Laney Whitcomb

"World Quest is difficult because, beyond reading the 100 plus papers of articles, there is no good way to prepare. All of the questions are difficult and require prior knowledge on the subject and full comprehension on what they are asking for."

- Laney Whitcomb

Model U.N.

Model U.N.

Model UN is a school club in which students are given scenarios about world issues to solve involving human rights, and diplomatic situations. Each student in Model U.N. represents a different country and must follow the according viewpoint for that country. Model U.N. members work together to form resolutions and solutions to diplomatic issues surrounding the countries that the students are representing. Model U.N students argue their position through caucuses and speeches. Finally, they vote to pass amendments and resolutions.

In the 2018-2019 school year Petoskey High School's Model UN team will be representing Ethiopia. The delegates for this year are Laney Whitcomb, Hunter Gutt, Nathaniel Wurster, Jackson Hollocker, Garrit Reynolds and Carter Koetje.

Isaiah Groh working on class assignments.

Shannon Graves and Megan Jennings putting final touches on their business magazines.

Personal Finance is a life skills class that teaches the importance of personal finance practices. These skills include: budgeting, learning how to balance finances, how to read and write a check, and the many risks involved with financing and loans. This class prepares students for careers, as well as, basic finance skills they will use for their entire life.

Business & Accounting

Business is a course in which students can learn, experience, and get a better understanding of the many systems of business. Including: forms of business organizations, entrepreneurship and business management. Students will also have the chance to explore business opportunities and careers.

Accounting is a class, as well as a hands-on experience, where students are able to learn and become more comfortable with basic knowledge of bookkeeping records and the fundamentals of accounting. The procedural skills learned in accounting will prepare students for many careers in the business world..

"Accounting is a valuable class because it teaches you how to organize accounts and track where money goes." - Brook Tracy

Larry Liebler

Instructor

Working on trusses.

In Building Trades, students learn skills needed to build a variety of different things. Some of these skills include roofing, drywalling, trusses, and carpentry. Students also learn the proper techniques to use when operating equipment.

In Commercial Foods class, students learn basic and intermediate food production management skills required for menu design and event planning. They prepare various types of appetizers, main course items, and desserts for functions of all types and sizes. This class prompts the learner to plan, organize, and conceptualize various events from culinary, managerial, and service points of view.

Students feeding the fish in Agricultural Science class

Agricultural Science

Agricultural Science is a field of Biology that surrounds the growing of plants, crops, raising of animals for food, and other needs.

Mr. Piche teaches a Horticulture class. In Horticulture, they take care of several different types of plants, one being poinsettia plants, in which they sell over the holidays!

Lauren Liebler

Instructor

Marlee Tache, Eleanor Dyer and Elena Sheperd hard at work.

In Drafting and Design, the students learn how to use drafting equipment and computer-aided drafting techniques (CAD). With this equipment, they can learn how to do multi-view projection, geometric drafting, pictorial drawing and floor plans. Students develop blueprints, do wall and room elevations, perspective room illustrations, and design decorating schemes.

One student's internal design for a living room.

This year the drafting students put their heads together to help come up with a tool to assist a young girl with daily needs. She was born with Arthrogryposis Multiplex Congenita, which causes muscles shortening. The tool the students designed, allows her to dress herself independently.
